

ANTI-CHINESE MATTERS.

The following from the Austin Review is self-explanatory and timely, as one week from to-day is the time set apart by the Anti-Chinese League of Reno to stop patronizing the mongolians: "There is but one side to the desirability of getting rid of the Chinese. The opponents to such an idea are few and far between. The agitation has grown until now it is coastwide. The actions of Judge Sawyer and Hoffman are almost entirely responsible for this uprising, for had they enforced the Restriction Acts as they should have been the citizens would have been content. But they did not and the people took the matter in their own hands and the uprising has been phenomenal in its extent. A people in its might is a grand thing and all pause and listen when they speak, but even the people are only great so far as they are law-abiding and dignified. The moment they begin to shoot and use the torch they place themselves in the light of a mob and are then answerable to the law. Take Carson City for instance. Here they organized a League to rid themselves of a large number of Chinese employed in various pursuits around the railroads, woodyards, houses and offices of the city to say nothing of the woodsmen, vegetable peddlers, washermen, etc. The uprising was very general and a League 700 strong was organized, comprising many of the best citizens of the city. Of course the riff-raff joined too. A boycott began April 1st. The dignified coolheaded citizens tried to keep the rest in the traces, but we now find incendiary fires, assaults and excitement running high there. The League is doing its utmost to check all this and as an organization do not sanction any such proceedings, and they claim that their members are not guilty of these infractions of the law. The moment lawlessness is indulged in that moment the great work was weakened not only in Carson but everywhere else. The people East who outnumber us fifty to one are watching this agitation and every overt act will but cause them to reaffirm their already erroneous idea that the Chinaman is being persecuted and they must protect him. The President himself takes this view of it and declares he will use the entire power of the Government to protect the Chinese while they are here. So long as the citizens keep within the proper bounds he can pay no attention to it, but when overt acts are committed then he will act. The true and safe way is to keep within the law and then the right will prevail and the right is only weakened and often defeated by committing unwarrantable acts in an over-zealous moment. Moderation and prudence will accomplish more than the torch or club in this or any other matter. This is the view taken of the situation by the Austin Anti-Chinese League. Their officers and leaders assert their determination to keep law and order always in the foreground and allow no lawlessness to be indulged in by any one of the over two hundred names now enrolled. As we said before a dignified, lawful, upright attitude is bound to win and no heads be broken, no blood shed, no torch applied, but the great force of public opinion will assert itself and right all difficulties."

A Washington dispatch to the Boston Advertiser says the President is much annoyed at the gossip in certain newspapers concerning his reported approaching marriage to Miss Folson. He has not denied the fact, but finds the several stories about Miss Folson's early life and personal qualities insulting and annoying. His feeling in this matter is very great; none the less so because the matter referred to appeared in the New York Democratic papers, which claimed to be friendly to him.

The President has sent a lengthy message to Congress, urging legislation to settle the present conflict between capital and labor.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—A bar was erected across the corridor and several watchmen excluded the general public from the room occupied by the select committee investigating the labor troubles in the Southwest to-day. The adoption of the precaution had been made necessary by the limited accommodations offered by the small room and the large crowd of curious spectators that filled the room yesterday. Jay Gould was in attendance about half an hour before the committee. He was accompanied by A. L. Hopkins, Vice President of the Missouri Pacific Railway, and by General Swayne, its counsel. The resolution under which the committee is proceeding was read to Mr. Gould, and he was invited to give his views on the subject of the strikes.

In a very low voice Gould read a statement showing in detail the number of men employed by the Missouri Pacific system. Gould explained that the strike occurred in his absence. He produced and read the telegrams passing between Powderly, Hoxie and Hopkins. At the date of the strike he had 11,315 employees, while the strikers numbered 3,717 men, principally employed in the machine shops along the tracks. "What followed the strike?" asked Gould, showing signs of deep feeling. "They seized St. Louis, Kansas City, Sedalia, Texarkana and our terminal facilities. They took possession and said no man shall run a train over that road. That is what they said," exclaimed Gould in a voice exhibiting strong agitation. "Our loyal employees could not run trains, and were deprived of the power to earn their wages. That was what followed the strike. It was forcible possession—I can't call it anything else—something the Czar of Russia would hesitate to do with his millions of soldiers behind him." Gould then recited at length his version of the interview between himself and Powderly and other Knights of Labor.

Rosecrans Wrathful.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Among the new appointees to the Treasury watch is an ex-Confederate from Virginia named Wallace. A few days ago he was promoted to be a messenger and assigned to the office of General Rosecrans, the Register of the Treasury. When the General found it out he was wrathful. He wanted to know by what authority the man was assigned to his office and declared that there were plenty of Union soldiers who could fill such places without compelling him to have an ex-rebel around him. The newly made messenger was sent back to the chief clerk to be assigned to another bureau, whereupon the latter said that Rosecrans was making a fool of himself in stirring up a fuss over a little thing like that. Wallace was then sent back to Appointment Clerk Higgins, who told him to go back upon the watchman's roll for the present, and he would make it all right with him as soon as an opportunity offered.

The New York Pacific Mail Directors have decided not to pay any dividend in May, the reason being the trans-continental fight, the withdrawal of the monthly subsidy and the reduction of rates on both passenger and freight business. It was given out that the statement for the quarter ending March 31st showed earnings of three-quarters of 1 per cent. on the stock, and cash on hand amounting to $307,000.

The House Committee on Foreign Relations changed the Morrow Chinese bill to conform with the bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Fair, providing for restriction to run ten years instead of twenty years. This action was taken, it is said, to hasten legislation with as little opposition as possible, and this is the reason why Senator Fair placed the ten-year limit in his bill.

Senator Stanford secured a hearing for Mr. Newman, of San Francisco, before a sub-committee of the Appropriations Committee, in behalf of the sericultural interests of the Pacific Coast. The agricultural appropriation bill, as passed by the House, contains an appropriation of $7,000 in the interest of silk culture. Mr. Newman wishes the appropriation increased to $50,000.

Protecting the Border. Four Bowls, April 21.—General Miles has written to Washington to-day detailing the unprotected condition of the national boundary, and advising an appropriation by Congress of $200,000 for the improvement and strengthening of the present posts and establishing new ones. The present condition along the line is entirely inadequate to sustain the national dignity, and to protect Arizona and New Mexico from bloody outlaws from below the Mexican line, or even to restrain our own turbulent population and prevent smuggling, etc.

From Fort Bliss, Texas, to Fort Huachuca, A. T., a stretch of 250 miles, there is not one post, and it is between those two points that every raiding party from the Sierra Madre has entered this country. A dozen bodies of troops are stationed along the line between the points named, and it is extremely expensive to keep them there in temporary camps, all supplies having to be packed in to them. The Government has given adequate protection to the international lines east of El Pasco, but from El Pasco to the Colorado river it is practically unprotected. It is one of the most vital interest to the people of these localities, and of national importance, that this long stretch be properly guarded. General Miles adds that it may be necessary for our Government to remove the renegades now in the Sierra Madre so far in the interior of Mexico that they will no longer menace the United States, or take some such action as was taken by the Canadian Government when the Sioux sought refuge in Canada.

Trapping Eastern People.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The reduction in the amount of Rebate allowed by the Atlantic and Pacific, made a few days ago, which increased fares $7 for first-class and $2 for second-class, was ignored by the Southern Pacific Company until to-day, when they issued instructions to all the local agents of Eastern roads announcing that the rise would be met by the Southern Pacific. The Atlantic and Pacific agents made an announcement this morning that alarmed people who have been here with orders for return tickets at cut rates. All who presented these orders were refused tickets, the agents stating that owing to a washout on the Atchison and Topeka road, they would not have orders until further instructions from headquarters. It is said by the uncharitable that the company does not intend to keep the pledges. If such is the case, there will be a howl from the thousands of Easterners who are here on the strength of these guaranteed rates.

Mare Island.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Orders have been sent from the Navy Department to the Mare Island Navy Yard to begin work in the rolling mill. The new orders will cause the expenditure of about $4,500 a month. J. H. O'Hara has been appointed engineer of the steam engines of the dry dock at Mare Island Navy Yard in place of George Thompson, who has been removed. It is said that work will soon be begun in the steam engineering department at Mare Island. Henley and Hearst visited the Secretary of the Navy this morning and received information that the new crane and derrick would be built at the navy yard at Mare Island. The navy yard's bid for this work was the lowest one made, but the department, for some reason, was under the impression that the derrick could not be built for the amount specified in the bid, but this fear has been dispelled and work is to begun at once.

The supplemental estimates of the appropriations required by the various departments to supply deficiencies and complete the service for the current fiscal year, amount to $6,711,807, that being additional to the $64,762,594 heretofore appropriated. Among the list of deficiencies is that for pensions, $6,000,000; fees and expenses of Examining Surgeons, Pension Office, $500,000; for fiscal year 1885-86, District of Columbia, $60,000 and State Department, $49,000.

TOO LATE.

The Carson Index says: It is now understood upon the streets that the old ring have concluded to resurrect the City Central Republican Committee which they have shelved for several years, for the express purpose of organizing a ticket with which, under the ostensible name of Republicanism, to beat the Anti-Chinese Non-Partisan ticket at the coming city election. It is hoped thereby to induce many signers of the League agreement to dishonor themselves and continue by fair means and foul the intolerable curse of Chinese competition with white labor in our midst. The Republican city organization is of course to present a ticket and platform in strict antagonism to the wishes of more than four-fifths of the voting population of this municipality. After this ring of political henchmen has for years persistently insulted the mass of Republicans by refusing to allow primaries, conventions, nominations or platforms, they now wish to make use of the party engineering to overthrow the very political usages which they have entailed upon our city elections, and to defeat the movement in which every good citizen has taken part for the benefit of himself and his children coming after him. It is too late in the day to successfully pervert the honored name and history of the Republican party to so contemptible a purpose. The political condition in this city, as brought about by the very crowd who now propose to appeal to Republicanism to save them from political perdition, is such as will not permit the kind of work now proposed by them.

That respectable and numerous body of our citizens known as the Anti-Chinese League has accepted the taunts and insults of the very men who are making this attempt; and in order to avoid the imputation of having organized the league as the cover for political purposes have resolved in a mass to support a non-partisan ticket at the city polls in May. The ringsters are thus without doubt caught in their own trap. They must now take a dose of the "non-partisan" medicine which for three years they have succeeded in doling out this people through the throbbing of the Republican City Central Committee. The people are not all fools yet and are entirely too earnest just now to be deceived in any great numbers to the trap thus being baited for them.

POLITICS AND THE LEAGUE.

They are having some fun in Carson. The Appeal remarks:

The bare suggestion of politics in the Anti-Chinese League has raised a loud protest from the very people who carry politics into everything. They express a fear that politics will cause the League to fall to pieces, which is very amusing, as everybody knows that the disintegration of the League is the very thing that these people most desire.

We believe that any voter in Ormsby County has a right to engage in politics if he so desires. The members of the League represent the majority of the taxpaying voters in this city and have a right to manage their own political affairs and say how the municipal government shall be run.

There are certain people in Ormsby county who have long entertained the idea that they hold a patent right of some kind on politics.

The Anti-Chinese League proposes to put an Anti-Chinese Non-Partisan ticket in the field at the next election, and the League hereby puts a caveat on the scheme. Which may be described as "a contrivance to enable registered voters to elect people of their own choosing, and several other novel and original features."

This machine will make a trial trip in May and the public are generally invited. The Appeal again urges the necessity of a fair registration. The books at Justice Guile's office close on the 23rd and only a few days remain. It proposes to elect three City Trustees, and these men will be nominated without regard to party affiliations. So long as they are sound on the Chinese question the voters will be satisfied. This action of the League does not prevent the pro-Chinese from placing a ticket in the field and supporting it.

They have the same right at the polls as anybody else and will be offered a free ballot and a fair count.

JUDGE C. C. GOODWIN.

Ogden News. In our Personal column we report the departure from Washington for Utah, of Judge C. C. Goodwin, chief editor of the Salt Lake Tribune for several years past, and we hope for many years to come. Judge Goodwin has been in the Federal capital for several weeks, during which he has put in hard licks in the interest of the lead and silver productions of this Territory. His undoubtedly thorough acquaintance with the subject and the situation has been instrumental in securing him not only a willing hearing but also a favorable responsiveness from the competent authorities, and the News does only scant justice to the gentleman by a grateful acknowledgement of the invaluable services he rendered to the material development of this, the richest Territory of America. But Judge Goodwin also deserves a heart-felt word of recognition for other deeds done by him. When the future historian of regenerated and civilized Utah comes to gather materials for the picture gallery of the good and great men of Utah, the moulders of mind, the operators of opinion, and the pilots of patriotic politics, he will find no better subject, no nobler name than C. C. Goodwin, whose matchless pen has engraven the wrong done by the Mormon priesthood on the indelible tablets of history, whose burning sentences fired even the type metal with the glow of honest conviction, and whose indefatigable management of a great and heartless anti-Mormon paper in the very den of Mormonism have marked him a conspicuous figure of this generation.

A PRETTY FAIR CRAFT.

J. E. Ridgway, former publisher of the News Reporter of Dayton, Nevada, has severed his connection with that paper. G. A. Rice assumes the publication and management of the paper. Gordon A. Rice was formerly an employee of the Bodie Free Press, and we recommend him to the staff as the right man in the right place.—Bodie Free Press.

Mr. Rice has unfortunately been lured on board a sinking ship. Whenever a newly-started paper begins making changes in management the end is not far off. However Mr. Rice is not to blame, and will do the best he can while the paper runs.—Walker Lake Bulletin.

We tread the quarter deck of this trim little craft with a confidence born of the knowledge that never was a newspaper craft launched upon the journalistic sea that was built upon better lines, or set its sails under more favorable auspices. The News Reporter's model is a good one. She is clean-cut and neat—unlike the Bulletin, the News Reporter bears evidence of having been printed on a printing press, by a printer, not stamped on a cheese press by a blacksmith. She has a defined course—to uphold the principles of Democracy, and by them to judge men and deeds both in and out of the Democratic party. She is freighted with a precious cargo—the interests of the people generally and those of Lyon county especially. She is gallantly stemming the waves of professional jealousy, and rides them like a duck. Piratical craft exist in this journalistic sea—newspaper freebooters who rob the people whose interests they pretend to serve. They sail under the black flag of deception. They would sweep off the face of those waters all crafts of the description of the News Reporter—craft that carry a charter signed by Honor; that sail under the glorious flag of Principle. The News Reporter is in the gulf stream of success; her sails are filled with the trade winds of enterprise; experience is at her helm; she is commanded by energy; not far ahead is a safe anchorage in the harbor of public esteem. Throw us a line, Johnny Bulletin, and we'll tow your old tub—for the short time she will float—at a rate that will make your slow-going commander's head swim.—Dayton News Reporter.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-aw-lyr

The Eureka Sentinel says: "The railroad war has abated one nuisance along the Central Pacific in this State. It has completely knocked the tramp out. He finds it cheaper to work a day or two, get three or four dollars and buy a ticket than to tramp." If the editor would see the gang that daily infests Reno he would not think so. The only thing that the numerous trains do is to keep them on the move.

Anti-Chinese meeting to-night, and as it is but a few days until the time set for boycotting the Chinese and their lovers, it is to be hoped that the hall will be crowded with our leading citizens and every man who is anxious to see our community rid of these loathsome and non-affiliating scums of China. The meeting should be an earnest and enthusiastic one so that the expression and sentiment of all may be had on this vital subject. Be at Armory Hall and let your voice be heard.

RAILROAD EXTENSION PROPOSED.—The Secretary of the Los Angeles Board of Trade has been instructed to forward to the Directors of the Carson and Colorado Railroad a series of resolutions passed by the Directors of the Board of Trade calling the attention of the railroad officials to the important advantages certain to result from the extension of that road from the terminus at Owen's Lake, a distance of some eighty miles, from a junction with The Needles and Mojave branch of the A. and P. Railway. The purpose is to open up trade between the State of Nevada and Mono, Inyo and other counties in California and Los Angeles.

THE PASSOVER.—The festival of the Passover, which is observed by persons of the Hebrew faith, commenced on Tuesday. It is celebrated in commemoration of the escape of the Israelites on the light of the destruction of the first born in Egypt, and is one of the oldest religious festivals. It continues for eight days, the second and last of which are holidays, and during that time orthodox Hebrews exclude all leaven from their food, in accordance with the command given by the Lord to Moses and Aaron in the twelfth chapter of Exodus.

G. A. R. SOUVENIR.—New York posts of the G. A. R. are arranging for the presentation to the California Department of a magnificent banner as a souvenir. The banner will be eight by six feet in size, of white satin, with the coats-of-arms of New York and California and the G. A. R. badge embroidered in silk in the center. Surrounding the embroidered work will be a yellow, silk-plush border one foot in width, while the whole banner will be bound with a heavy bolton fringe.

Being a steady reader of your paper and the controversy going on between the pro and anti-base ball people, I would like to say a few words in answer to "S" in your issue of yesterday. The article I refer to read just as I expected it would after perusing "B's" answer to the first article, and shows conclusively that "S's" animosity to Sunday base ball playing was instigated more out of selfishness and a "dog-in-the-manger" spirit than by his Christian animosity to breaking the Sabbath. He says "if much ball playing is all that can attract our boys from the saloons they may as well stay at the saloons. There they will not be disturbing their neighbors who wish to be quiet." Now, is not that a good Christian spirit for a person to show, who has such a horror of seeing our Sabbath day broken? He would rather see our men and boys stay in the saloons and watch the various games of cards, pool and billiards, besides the drinking and swearing rather than have his quietness disturbed the least bit, because he has reached that age when he cannot enjoy himself, and his rheumatic bones make him cross and peevish, and he can't bear to hear the noise of healthy hard-working and industrious young men enjoying themselves after passing the week at their various avocations. Go in the saloons, boys, play cards, pool, billiards, get drunk, do anything, but don't disturb crabbed old "S," who wishes to be quiet.

He asks "where are the officers of the law; sworn to do their duty?" I would like to ask "S" if he has ever seen anything transpire on the ball grounds that needed the services of an officer, or in any way showed that they were not discharging their sworn duties?

Yes, I think it was quite an honor for "S" to be mistaken for a preacher, but not quite so much of an honor for our reverend clergymen to be mistaken for "S," as the sensible article of the Rev. Mr. Spencer a few days ago showed. The article of Mr. Spencer met the approbation of the young men of the ball clubs, who would much rather play ball on any other day than Sunday, if their work could be so arranged that they could do so. But how are they to work hard all day during the week and play ball at the same time? I may be liberal in my views, but if our young men do nothing worse than playing ball on Sunday, after being confined all week, they will make as good citizens as any community could wish for, and still stand as high in the bright hereafter as the chronic "S," whose life has become a burden to himself and all around him. "S" argues against Sunday playing and our town's morality by giving statistics as to our saloons and their licenses. I have found by observation that the best way to kill saloons is to withdraw patronage from them and if the ball games keep the "hoodlums," as "S" terms them, and the sporting fraternity out of the saloons all afternoon their receipts must be correspondingly less and their profits a great deal smaller.

I would like to know in what part of Reno "S" resides, for the members of the clubs have canvassed the neighborhood in which the games are played and were informed by the neighbors that the games in no way bothered the occupants of the various houses. I have also noticed the porches of the various residences occupied by ladies who seemed to be interested in the games, and greatly enjoying the boys' recreation.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I will say that the act of the young men and boys playing ball on Sunday was in vogue long before "S" came on this earth and I am afraid will continue long after the noise and hoodlumism has driven him to an early grave. The boys will play ball, you know. I hope that this is the last article that will appear on this subject, for the more "S" writes the further he gets away from the subject in hand.

Something About the New Favorite Breed of Horses.

The Winnemucca Silver State says: A magnificent horse of the Cleveland Bay breed has been purchased by the Nevada Land & Cattle Company, and arrived at Golconda to be taken to the company's ranch, at Kelly Creek. The horse is a deep mahogany dappled bay, with black points, three years old, 15 1/2 hands high, weighs about 1,050 pounds, and good judges of horses pronounce him as beautiful a specimen of the equine race as they ever saw.

The Cleveland Bay is a breed of horses but little known in this country, and even in England, where it originated, the animals are scarce. A few years ago some Eastern horse breeders, noticing that the country was going wild over heavy weights and trotters, concluded that the time would come when a general purpose horse would be in demand, and imported a few Cleveland bays as an experiment. The result was so satisfactory and the demand for the horses became so great that the supply in England is almost exhausted, and thoroughbreds are hard to find.

The Cleveland Bay originated in England, and is acknowledged to be a distinct breed from the heavy Clydesdale and the racer and trotter. They stand, when matured, from 16 to 17 hands high, and weigh from 1,200 to 1,400 pounds. They are muscular and showy, quick movers, excellent carriage horses or roadsters; in fact, it is said they can fill the bill for almost any kind of service, and withal are exceedingly gentle and good dispositioned.

STATE UNIVERSITY.—The Enterprise says the formal exercises in connection with the opening of the Nevada State University were held in that institution at Reno Thursday. The students began their recitations a week ago, but on account of the unsettled state of the weather it was deemed best to postpone the inaugural until Thursday. There was a large attendance of visitors, the citizens of Reno manifesting much interest in the proceedings. The building was thrown open for inspection and everybody seemed pleased with the surroundings and the arrangements made for the comfort and instruction of the students. The latter, forty-one in number, representing the sexes about equally, appeared a bright, intelligent and happy gathering of our Nevada youth. Under the direction of Professor McCommon the young ladies opened the exercises with a song and chorus. Prayer was then offered by the Rev. Mr. Ashton, of Reno, after which Professor Willis delivered a thoughtful inaugural address, outlining the purposes and policy of the University and predicting for it a prosperous career.

Col. H. G. Shaw, of the Board of Regents, followed in a short speech, which awarded due credit to the people of Reno, to Architect Curtis, the builders, Burke Brothers, Hon. C. C. Powning, and others, to whose zeal the State was indebted for the handsome building, then and there dedicated to education. Upon the students he urged the importance of work if they expected to achieve results beneficial to them. If they showed half the zeal and enthusiasm which he was certain Professors Willis and McCommon would display in the task confided to them he felt assured that success would crown the labor so auspiciously begun. Short addresses were made by Professor Young, Judge Boardman, Hon. C. C. Powning, Hon. D. A. Allen and other gentlemen, after which the exercises closed.

A MINER KILLED BY A BLAST.—About 3 A. M. Thursday three miners had put in as many blasts in a winze on the first level of the Holmes at Candelaria and retired. One shot fired all right, and after waiting a few minutes, C. C. O'Connell, one of the miners, returned to see why the other shots did not go off, his partners advising him not to do so. As he reached the bottom of the winze one more hole went off, mashing his head fearfully. He died in five minutes. He was a native of Ireland, and came to the coast in 1855 from Iowa. He was 61 years of age and a stranger there, having worked but three shifts.

A boat was immediately lowered, but no trace of the unfortunate man could be found, he having evidently been crushed under the paddle-wheel.
